

28.1. Electrolytes and ENGINE CYCLES

liquids, such as fused salt of common salt, copper and the like are good

I hid the thing in our back shed and gave it something to eat, once I found out what it liked. It seemed a bit happier then, even though it was still lost.

I checked the local paper for any lost pet notices, but only found a lot of good deals on refrigerator repairs. I remember thinking then that Pete was probably right, that some things were just plain lost. In any case, I sure couldn't keep the thing in the shed forever. Mum or Dad would eventually notice it when they came out looking for a hammer or something.

It was a real dilemma.

I was wondering what to do when a small advertisement on the last page of the paper happened to catch my eye.

Exercise 15b

53.4. Colour of Transparent Objects.—A transparent substance is one which allows all or part of the incident light to pass through